

Dear Participants, Parents, Adjudicating Board Members, and the Ctronic Family,

Welcome to Aristotle Scholastic Festival 2020 presented to you by Ctronic Conferences! Ctronic Conferences with a plethora of skilled members are gearing up to host the prime version of Aristotle Scholastic Festival 2020 in alliance with its integrated marketing partner Reconcile eMUN on the 8th and 9th of August. It is an affair of utmost honor and pleasure for me to host participants from all across India and perhaps the Globe on an online platform. It is truly astounding that despite virtually every enterprise coming to a standstill and when development seems to have come to a standstill that such public speaking ventures are being conducted. We, the juvenility, are living in an ever-changing world with cutting-edge technological evolutions and the relentless expansion of human knowledge.

Even as I am penning this letter to you, there are scientists, activists, and peace-keepers who are at the frontiers toiling incessantly to build us an inclusive and resilient future. Thanks to their contribution, more gateways are exposed to us than ever, more opinions are heard than ever. Firstly, I as the Co-Founder of Ctronic Conferences would like to wholeheartedly on the behalf of our entire team greet you to the intriguing novel notion of multi-dimensional scholastic festivals. This theory aspires to develop open-mindedness, it brings together various inquisitions and events from multiple disciplines because before one learns to specialize it is decisive to perceive the larger picture, not solely the highlight.

It arouses duos to work synchronically because there is nothing further motivating than acknowledging that someone depends on you and your engagement. That diminutive drive is what has bought me considerably and what we desire to proffer to you. You are dealing with compelling concerns met by society at a level never beheld beforehand but not becoming fatigued but instilling by pleasure into the means because when you have fun in the process, you uncover more profound realities and socialize more with the undivided essence of the enigma. We all can have fun learning and fall in love with it but it depends on us whether we yearn to find that zest and enjoyment.

Aristotle Scholastic Festival seeks to invigorate and spark this craving to reform the doctrines of civilization and formulating a fellowship as interactive and proactive it can be. Materials have been chosen with utmost delicacy and thought, ensuring an experience to treasure to all. Add to it events that regardless of expertise and talent are sure to deliver a learning exposure to you that is unmatched to anything fathomable. We plan to live up to the hype and enthusiasm around the event. With an outlook of two solid days of all-round development and evolution of each participant be it in knowledge, soft skills, or experience, I, along with my extraordinary Organising Committee look forward keenly to whole-heartedly welcome you to the marvel of Aristotle Scholastic Festival with an abundance of memories to treasure in reserve for you.

Looking forward to observing you in development forthwith,
Soham Agrawal
Co-Founder of Ctronic™